

The Industry Leader

For over a century J.R. Clancy has been designing and supplying theatrical rigging systems and services to the entertainment industry around the world.

As the leading manufacturer of theatrical stage equipment in the United States, we provide everything from simple stage hardware to highly sophisticated motorized systems for any rigging need — theatres, concert halls, arenas, television studios, auditoriums, convention centers, casino showrooms, opera houses, and even cruise ships!

To ensure a consistently high level of product and customer service J.R. Clancy has developed a quality management system that has been certified as meeting the ISO 9001:2000 standard. We're the only North American theatrical rigging manufacturer to have achieved this certification.

Innovative, Safe Solutions for Your Unique Project

Every project poses unique challenges. With thousands of successful projects to our credit, we have proven our ability to meet every challenge. Some can be solved with standard materials, while others require carefully defined one-of-a-kind systems. Whether simple or complex, you can be assured that every project is followed through with the absolute highest level of safety, reliability, efficiency, and craftsmanship.

United States Institute for Theater Technology

Entertainment Services &
Technology Association

International Association of Assembly Managers

